

If you resolved to help others
or to volunteer this year...

We can help you keep that resolution!

“Help Others” or “Volunteer” make the top ten lists for New Year’s Resolutions each year. If they’re on your list, consider becoming an adult literacy tutor with the Monterey County Free Libraries.

Twenty five percent (25%) of adults in Monterey County struggle to read a prescription label, fill out a job application, or help their children with homework. Tutoring can make their resolution to get a better job, take care of their family, or stay healthy a reality.

Helping adults improve their English language reading, writing, and conversation skills makes a difference for the individual, their family, and across our county. Join us as an adult literacy tutor. Make a commitment of two to three hours per week for at least six months. We provide the training and the tools, you provide the desire to help.

You can get started by attending our two-part New Tutor Training.

New Tutor Training

(plan to attend both parts)

Part I: Monday, January 13, 6-830 pm;

Part II: Wednesday, January 15, 6-830 pm;
